

11.3.2 Lesson 7

Introduction

In this lesson, students begin to conduct searches independently using the Research Frame (created in Lesson 6) and associated search tools. This lesson is the first of three lessons in which students conduct sustained, independent research during class. While researching, students consider how to use inquiry questions to drive research and continually assess sources for credibility and usefulness in answering inquiry questions.

This lesson is the first of three independent search lessons (11.3.2 Lessons 7-9) assessed using a Conducting Independent Searches Checklist. The Conducting Independent Searches Checklist serves as an assessment tool for the teacher while also focusing students on specific aspects of the search process for each search lesson. The teacher provides feedback on two of the criteria from the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist for each of the three lessons. For this lesson, the focal criteria are 1 and 2. Lesson 8's focal criteria are 3 and 4, and Lesson 9's focal criteria are 5 and 6.

Students begin the lesson with a research process check-in during which they update their Student Research Plan. The teacher introduces students to the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist, and students conduct research using the steps that they were introduced to in previous lessons. Student learning in this lesson is assessed via individual students' completed research tools, including Potential Sources Tools, Taking Notes Tools, and a current Research Frame.

For homework, students continue conducting searches independently, following the steps taught in Lessons 3-5 (plan for searches, assess sources, annotate sources, record notes, and evaluate arguments). Students also add to the vocabulary journal any new vocabulary they have learned throughout the research process.

Standards

Assessed Standard(s)
W.11-12.8	Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the strengths and limitations of each source in terms of the task, purpose, and audience; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation.
Addressed Standard(s)
W.11-12.7	Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.
L. 11-12.4.a-d	Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grades 11-12 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence, paragraph, or text; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.</li> <li>b. Identify and correctly use patterns of word changes that indicate different meanings or parts of speech (e.g., conceive, conception, conceivable).</li> <li>c. Consult general and specialized reference materials (e.g., dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses), both print and digital, to find the pronunciation of a word or determine or clarify its precise meaning, its part of speech, its etymology, or its standard usage.</li> <li>d. Assessment(s)

Student learning in this lesson is assessed via individual students' completed research tools, including Potential Sources Tools, Taking Notes Tools, and a current Research Frame.

- Consider using a form of electronic folders or other technological media to house and manage the Research Portfolio contents. Teachers who choose to use Google Drive or other cloud-based online organizational formats should display sample folders for all students to see.
- The research tools are assessed using criteria 1 and 2 from the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist. Complete feedback for criteria 1 and 2 on the checklist for each student based on their research tools.

High Performance Response(s)

A High Performance Response should:

- Align to criteria 1 and 2 from the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist.

Vocabulary

Vocabulary to provide directly (will not include extended instruction)

- None.*

Vocabulary to teach (may include direct word work and/or questions)

- None.*

Additional vocabulary to support English Language Learners (to provide directly)

Activity 1: Introduction of Lesson Agenda

Begin by reviewing the agenda and the assessed standard for this lesson: W.11-12.8. Students begin the lesson with a research process check-in, during which they update their Student Research Plan. Students are then introduced to the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist, and conduct research using the steps they learned in previous lessons. This lesson is the first of three independent search lessons (11.3.2 Lessons 7-9) that are assessed using a Conducting Independent Searches Checklist, which focuses students on specific aspects of the search process for each of the independent searches lessons.

- Students look at the agenda.

Activity 2: Homework Accountability and Research Check-In

15%

Instruct students to talk in pairs and discuss the homework from the previous lesson. (Select one to two of your strongest inquiry questions to begin pursuing through independent research by following the research steps outlined in Lessons 3-5 (plan for searches, assess sources, annotate sources, record notes, and evaluate arguments), using the appropriate tools for each of the steps. Continue to add new vocabulary learned through the research process to the vocabulary journal.) Instruct students to share one credible and relevant source they found for one of the inquiry questions, and two new vocabulary words learned through the source.

- Student pairs discuss the homework from the previous lesson.
  - Student responses will vary based on their individual research questions/problems and research conducted. Students should use the language of the research steps in discussion.
    - My question “Why do people engage in genocide?” led me to a source called “Why Genocide?” in The Humanist. And, it is credible because the author, Fred Edwords, is a prominent speaker on issues of international humanitarian action.
    - I learned fundamental means “forming a necessary base or core” and innumerable means “too many to be counted.”
  - Consider collecting students’ homework to assess the progress of their research.

Instruct students to take out the Student Research Plan from the front of their Research Portfolios.

- Students take out their Student Research Plans.

Return the previous lesson’s assessment, the Research Frame, with feedback to each student, and instruct students to examine the feedback.

- Students examine the feedback on the Research Frame.

Instruct students to review the Research Plan Part 2, where it discusses annotating and taking notes on sources, and building a Research Frame. Instruct students to use the previous lesson’s homework and assessment (Research Frame) to journal about their research progress and next steps.

- Students review the Research Plan Part 2, and use the previous lesson’s homework and assessment to journal about their research progress and next steps.
- Student responses will vary based on their individual research questions/problems and research conducted. Students should use the language of the Research Plan.
- Instruct students to continue the Research Journal started in Lesson 2. Students can write on separate sheets of paper or in a notebook and keep the Research Journal in the Research Portfolio.

Instruct students to file the Research Plan in the front section of the Research Portfolio and organize the materials from the previous lesson in Section 2: Gathering and Analyzing Information.

- Students file the Student Research Plan in the front section of the Research Portfolio.

Activity 3: Conducting Independent Searches Checklist

15%

Explain to students that this lesson begins a series of three lessons in which students conduct independent searches during class time and for homework. Inform students that each of these independent searches lessons (11.3.2 Lessons 7-9) has a different focus but includes all the steps of the research process taught in previous lessons.

- Students listen.

Display and distribute the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist. Explain to students that the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist synthesizes all the criteria for an effective search into one list. Each of the three independent searches lessons will focus on two of the criteria to assess research progress. Inform students that for this lesson, criteria 1 and 2 are the focus. However, students should still consider all the research steps because all of the criteria are important in conducting effective research. Remind students that the skills necessary to meet the criteria have been taught throughout the previous lessons.

- Students examine the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist.

Instruct students to read the criteria in the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist. Instruct students to form pairs to discuss the criteria's specific actions and any questions they have about the criteria. Instruct student pairs to answer the following questions before sharing out with the class.

What specific action is required for criterion 1, “Uses inquiry questions to drive research and identify sources”?

- The criterion's action is that the inquiry questions should drive the research. We should be searching for sources that provide information related to our inquiry questions. The research is based on inquiry or answering questions to gain a deeper understanding of the problem-based question.

What specific action is required for criterion 2, “Continually assesses sources for credibility; identifies the usefulness of a particular source and explains why a particular source does or does not help respond to an inquiry question”?

File: 11.3.2 Lesson 7 Date: 9/12/14 Classroom Use: Starting 9/2014

- This criterion is describing how to assess sources by using the Potential Sources Tool and Assessing Sources Handout introduced in earlier lessons. It is important to get rid of any sources that are not credible, accessible, or relevant.

What specific action is required for criterion 3, “Determines if information is sufficient to address established inquiry paths and questions in the Research Frame and adjusts the search accordingly”?

- This criterion’s action is describing how to assess the research and determine if there is enough information to answer inquiry questions or address inquiry paths. Sometimes new questions emerge and some questions need to be eliminated based on the direction of the research. Sometimes additional sources need to be explored.

What specific action is required for criterion 4, “Reads sources closely, analyzes details and ideas, and records notes for each source to determine how it addresses inquiry questions and paths”?

- This criterion’s action is about selecting key sources to read closely for information that addresses select inquiry questions and paths.

What specific action is required for criterion 5, “Makes decisions about the research direction based on reviews of annotation and notes and relevance to inquiry questions/paths. This may include discontinuing inquiry paths and adding inquiry paths/questions”?

- This criterion’s action is about deciding which inquiry paths and questions have been addressed by the research and making decisions about which direction to go with the research.

What specific action is required for criterion 6, “Marks key info in sources, takes notes of initial impressions, identifies additional research needs, and inserts codes to link to inquiry paths”?

- This criterion’s action is about annotating and taking notes on key sources, but also beginning to analyze those sources for how they answer the selected inquiry question. This criterion also contributes to changes in research direction that might take place.
- Look for student understanding of the criterion’s action, its nonlinear nature, and the repetitive practices that research calls for. Consider generating follow-up questions as necessary.
- Students do not need to complete the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist; it is for assessment purposes only.

Lead a brief, whole-class discussion of students’ responses and questions.

Explain to students that a key component in crafting an effective research-based argument paper is using a variety of credible sources. As students begin to identify key sources for their paper, they should keep in mind the variety of sources available and avoid overreliance on one source. A diversity of sources will allow students to craft an effective research-based argument paper by providing multiple perspectives, a variety of evidence, and differing audiences.

- Students listen.

Inform students that diversity within their sources can mean many different things. It is possible to have diversity of one sort and not of another. For example a paper in which every source is a high school teacher might include some biases as the sources all have a similar viewpoint, even if all of the sources are in diverse publications. Diversity among sources can also include: the medium of the source (e.g., video interviews or print articles); its format (e.g., newspaper article or academic text); and the cultural perspective of the author (e.g., an author from Canada or an author from Beirut). Explain to students that while it is not necessary that every source represent an entirely unique and varied perspective, the more diverse and comprehensive sources they can reference, the stronger their papers will be.

Ask students the following questions to help solidify their understanding of source diversity.

What are some examples of a source list that is not diverse?

- All of the sources come from the same publication.
- All of the sources come from the same country.
- All of the sources are newspaper articles.

How can you ensure that your sources are diverse?

- Pay attention to the medium, perspective, and origin of each source.

Instruct students to keep these considerations in mind as they gather sources through this module. A diverse pool of potential sources provides a strong foundation for their claims and reasoning.

- Students listen.

Activity 4: Independent Searches

55%

Instruct students to work on their independent searches. Inform students they will be assessed on criteria 1 and 2 on the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist. Remind students of the research steps (planning for searches, assessing sources, annotating, taking notes, and evaluating arguments). Remind students to organize all search materials in their Research Portfolios, Section 2.

Transition students to independent searches. Distribute extra Potential Sources Tools, Taking Notes Tools, and Research Frame Tools as needed to each student.

- Students do their independent searches, using the Research Frame and the steps from earlier lessons.
- Consider displaying the search steps from 11.3.2 Lessons 3-5 for students to see.
- Consider using the media center or library for this lesson so students have access to librarians or media specialists.
- Students need access to computers with Internet capacity for research purposes. Prepare for the lesson ahead of time by reserving space in rooms with technology access for all students.
- Consider drawing students' attention to their application of standard W.11-12.7, through the use of research skills necessary to complete this activity.

Circulate to support students as they engage in the research process. Ask students to consult the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist as a reminder of the components of the research process.

- Place students in heterogeneous groups of four or five that remain consistent throughout the module. Consider forming groups ahead of time to maximize the range of different research topics and questions within each group. The goal of these groups is to create small communities of inquiry/research teams that provide support and accountability to each other. Students should know about their teammates' topics, research questions, central claims, etc. Students should share claims and evidence that arise from their individual inquiry and learn from each other's research processes, which they may use to potentially refine their own inquiry topics and questions.
- Differentiation Consideration: Some of the topics students are researching may yield complex or inaccessible texts. To address this concern, consider recommending that students make use of free databases accessible through <http://novelnewyork.org/> such as Grolier, Gale, and ProQuest; these databases allow searches by subject/keyword and students may filter the searches so that only texts within certain Lexile ranges are returned. Consider collaborating with a librarian or media specialist to access these databases and create filtered searches that support students' reading levels.

- Remind students to consider print and non-text media when researching and to think about how visuals or auditory media can provide information or demonstrate information in ways different from text.

Activity 5: Assessment

5%

Collect the completed research tools from the lesson, including the Potential Sources Tools, Taking Notes Tools, and a current Research Frame.

- Students turn in the completed research tools from the lesson.
- Differentiation Consideration: For further assessment, and to have students begin developing their argument writing skills, consider having students respond briefly in writing to the following prompt:

Choose one central claim researched today. Identify the evidence that supports this claim and evaluate how the evidence is relevant and sufficient to the claim.

Instruct students to look at the annotations in their sources and research tools to find evidence. Remind students to use the Conducting Independent Searches Checklist to guide their written responses.

Activity 6: Closing

5%

Display and distribute the homework assignment. For homework, instruct students to continue conducting searches independently, following the steps taught in 11.3.2 Lessons 3-5 (plan for searches, assess sources, annotate sources, record notes, and evaluate argument). In addition, instruct students to add to the vocabulary journal any new vocabulary learned through the research process.

- Students follow along.
- Distribute additional tools as needed. Students should bring to class annotated sources and completed research tools as evidence of their independent research.
- Consider reminding students to use the vocabulary strategies in standards L.11-12.4.a-d when completing the vocabulary journal.

Homework

Continue conducting searches independently, following the steps taught in 11.3.2 Lessons 3-5 (plan for searches, assess sources, annotate sources, record notes, and evaluate argument). Bring to class annotated sources and completed research tools from your searches.

Add to the vocabulary journal any new vocabulary you learn through the research process.
