Building Background Knowledge: Background knowledge (or prior knowledge) is a frame of reference that encompasses the information and concepts that the learner brings to the learning task. Background knowledge reflects the learner's prior experiences and both formal and informal learning. It provides the foundation for approaching, processing, interpreting, and retaining new learning, and is indispensable to the learner's making sense and understanding how the world works. When children are reading nonfiction they need to have some background knowledge in order to understand the text. The more a student knows about a topic, the more difficult the texts a student can approach. Students' background knowledge, including developmental, experiential, and cognitive factors, influences their ability to understand the explicit and inferential qualities of a text.

The following are some strategies to build background knowledge:

- Developing background knowledge in the middle school years can be achieved by reviewing or introducing concepts that form the baseline for understanding more complex ones. Conversations around topics that the student knows little about can be supported by carefully selected short video clips and illustrations that are connected to the background knowledge and content need to enrich reading comprehension.
- Background knowledge can be enriched by providing students with texts they can read independently that match their reading level and that are aligned with the grade-level text/topic being developed in class.
- Students who are developing a new language and can read and comprehend grade level text in their home language can build background knowledge by independently reading higher level text aligned with the text/topic being developed in class.
- Pairing fiction and nonfiction books that address the same topic.

Note: Text structures and oral language development also play an important role in building a student's ability to comprehend grade appropriate texts. See RI Standards 5, 6 and 7 for standards that target text structures and Standards 1 and 2, which addresses comprehension strategies. Also, in order to engage in grade appropriate texts students must have mastered the phonemic and phonological characteristics of the home and/or new language as well as fluency. See Foundations of Reading, which address these skills development.

Examples of Text to Build Background Knowledge in P-2 Informational Text: The following books develop and expand knowledge of the human body. The sequence from K to 5th grade is recommended in the Common Core State Standards (p.33).
